Drunkards as Agricultural Products.

At the late autumnal fair of the Indiana State Agricultural Society, booths were let for the unrestricted sale of intoxicating liquors. The consequence was that there was such an amount of uncontrollable intoxication as to give rise to a very strong feeling of disgust against the board of managers. The Indiana papers took up the subject, notably among them the Indiana Farmer, and the said managers have been severely handled. But one of the number, a Mr. Ryland Thomas Brown, in the Indiana Farmer, makes the following statement:

"Since I have come to the confessional, I may as well admit that I have my doubts whether we should prohibit saloons at the State and county fairs .-These fairs ought to exhibit fairly the various industries in which the labor and capital of the State are invested. Now, excepting agriculture, there is more money invested in the manufacture of drunkards than in any other business in the State; and so important and profitable does the Legislature of Indiana regard this business, that they refuse to suffer any one to engage in it unless they will divide the profits with the State. Our dividend of these profits last year was about $300,000. Now, as everybody does not understand how these thousands of drunkards that are turned out every year from the factories of this State are made, is it not proper that the process, in all its details, should be exhibited at the fairs? We exhibit our schools of learning and virtue, from which we fill our positions of honor and trust, and shall we not exhibit the schools of vice, from which we fill our penitentiaries and poor-We exhibit our sources of wealth in the products of the farms and workshops, and shall we conceal the leak where millions of that wealth is sunk in the dissipation of the saloon? Shall we not be honest and show it all? Indeed, Mr. Editor, I feel very much like taking it all back and acknowledging myself a convert to saloons at fairs."

Effects of Tobacco.

We have witnessed in the Pennsylvania Institution a case which will serve as a warning to those addicted to the use of tobacco, and which shows, in stern facts. that the habit of chewing the nasty stuff, when once formed, is a difficult thing to overcome. This fall there came to the institution a boy, a famous chewer; and, according to the rules, he was forbidden to continue the filthy habit. Having been used to it from an early age the effects were pitiful. Nearly crazed by the discontinuance of a habit so strongly formed, he became quite unmanageable, and, the other night, escaped from the institution, no one knows how. Falling into the company of two men, probably professional midnight plunderers, he ac-companied them on their exploits, and the consequence was that he spent the rest of the night, as well as several days, in the lock-up, though it is believed his only intentions were to obtain tobacco. After his return to the institution he was sent home, as to be quietly settled to his studies was impossible in his in-jured state of health and mind. If his friends, who will have to bear the penalty, had not allowed him to indulge such an injurious habit in early ears, he could have been as hearty and happy as the rest .- [Mute's Journal.

A clever little passage at the expense of a member of the Belgian legation is current in Washington. A young attache recently reached there fresh from London, his last station, and greatly vexed over what he was pleased to call his exile. "At all events," he was in the habit of saying, and the remark came to be widely quoted, "I shall speak no Eng-lish in Washington. I learned it in London, and I don't intend to spoil my accent." Time passed. The attache was at a reception. Some friend of his asked a bright young American woman to permit him to present the attache to her. "Oh! dear, don't," was the reply, and it has traveled over Washington. "I couldn't think of such a thing. I learned my French in Paris, and it would ruin my accent to talk with a Belgian.'

Little Johnny wanted to go to church. His mother as afraid he would make a noise, but his father said: "Johnny knows better than to make a noise in church." So he went. He kept very still till the last prayer. By that time he had grown very tired of sitting still, and was standing on the pew cushion, with his back to the pulpit. When the lady in the next seat bowed her head for prayer, Johnny thought she was crying. He leaned over and said to the lady, in a tone that was meant for a whisper, but which was only too plainly heard: "Poor What ee matter? Do oo stummut

An author having quoted I Chron. xiv, 15, in his manuscript, his publisher wrote to him in this wise: We have been obliged to correct your manuscript. Did you ever hear of such an instrument as a 'going'? We have looked through all our dictionaries, and can find nothing of it. We have printed it 'the sound o a gong in the mutberry tree,' and that must have been what you meant."

It is told of Benjamin Franklin that when he was minister to France, he once attended a meeting of a literary society and, not well understanding French when declaimed, determined to applaud when he saw a lady friend express ap proval. When they had ceased, a little child, who understood French, said to Franklin: "Why, you always applauded most when they were praising you." Franklin laughed heartily and explained his dilemma.

A class was being examined recently in a sea-beaten town of Sussex. The subject under discussion was the flood. Among the first questions put was: "How did Noah understand that there was going to be a flood?" "'Cause, shouted an urchin, "he looked at his al-

People are getting acquainted—and those who are not ought to be—with the wonderful merits of that great American Remedy, the ca, where Nature provides in her laboratory such surprising antidotes for the maladies of her children. Its fame has been spreading for 35 years, until now it encircles the habitable globe.

MEXICAN Mustang Liniment,

FOR MAN AND BEAST.

The Mexican Mustang Liniment is a matchless emedy for all external ailments of man and beast.
To stock owners and farmers it is invaluable. A single bottle often saves a human life or restores the usefulness of an excellent horse, ox,

It cures foot-rot, hoof-all, hollow horn, grub, screw-worm, shoulder-rot, mange, the bites and stings of poisonous reptiles and insects, and every such drawback to stock breeding and bush life. It cures every external trouble of horses, such as lameness, scratches, swinny, sprains, founder, wind gall, ring bone, "IC. etc.
The Mexican Mustang Liniment is the quickest cure in the world for accidents occurring in the family, in the absence of a physician, such as burns, scalds, sprains, cuts, etc., and for rheumatiam, sealed, spraints, cuts, etc., inc. for tiam, and stiffness engendered by exposure. Par-ticularly valuable to Miners.

It is the cheapest remedy in the world, for it penetrates the muscle to the bone, and a single application is generally sufficient to cure.

Mexican Mustang Liniment is put up in three sizes of bottles, the larger ones being proportion-ately much the cheapest. Sold everywhere.

DR. TUTT, Dear Sr. — For Ten Years I have been a martyr to Is-spensia, Constipation and Plies. The best physicians failed to relieve me from this living death; your pills were wecommended; the first dose gave me such relief that I continued to take them. I am nown well man; have good digestion, regular stools; piles gone and have gained forty pounds fiesh. Tutt's Pills are worth their weight in gold.
